SHRED FROM VOILE WAIST FOUND BY VICTIM

Desperate Battle of Rancher in Manchester Heights Slaying Revealed

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—With the finding of a torn half of a woman's voile waist a few inches from the finger tips of the murdered body of a man, identified as Rosario Micicche, a new mystery murder was revealed here today.

A dainty vanity case, a quantity of rice in the rear seat of the murdered man's automobile, a bloody footprint on the fender of the machine and other important clues were also found. The murder was committed at a street corner in Manchester Heights, just outside the city.

See Clue in Grapes
Other important clues being followed by the officers trying to solve the slaying included a bunch of grapes on the left fender of the machine and a blood-covered hatchet with a sawed-off handle.

The finding of the rice, the officers said, indicated there might have been a wedding celebration before the slaying.

On the dead man's body was found a revolver holster, but the gun was missing. That Micicche may have used the revolver was indicated by blood on the right running board of the machine and similar stains on the roadway. The officers declared these could not have been caused by Micicche's wounds, as it was apparent he had not moved from the spot where he fell. Officers investigating the case declared they believed the first blow was struck at Micicche from the rear seat of the car.

Dead Man Fought Back
Micicche is thought to have fought back with his revolver, and his fire returned by his assailants, as bullet wounds were found on the body. One bullet was in the body and another in the car. The machine had been brought to a quick stop, as the car skidded approximately ten feet, the highway showed, indicating, the police said, that Micicche was attacked while under way.

Only a powder puff and a small purse with a few dollars were in the small vanity case found near Micicche's body. The sleeve and piece of cloth from the woman's white shirt waist evidently had been ripped from the woman during the struggle.

Micicche was described as a well-to-do rancher.

New York Mystery Death Before Jury

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The mysterious death of Mrs. Gertrude Gorman Webb, wealthy 40-year-old bride of Charles Webb, Wall street broker, was laid before the Westchester county grand jury in session at White Plains this afternoon.

Pathological examination of the dead woman's viscera was completed by Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, toxicologist of Bellevue hospital today. Dr. Gettler was to make his final report to Coroner Edward J. Fitzgerald of Westchester county.

Dr. Gettler found a corrosive mineral poison in the kidney tissues. Whether this poison was in the body at the time of death is not known.

Ambassador Wood in Praise of Tokio Staff

TOKIO, Oct. 2.—"I challenge the diplomatic history of the world to produce an embassy staff which stood by in time of need as did the American staff in Tokio, following the Japanese disaster," said Ambassador Wood today in speaking before the America-Japan Society Memorial luncheon one month after the earthquake.

Viscount Kaneko told how his servants saved only the picture of Theodore Roosevelt and those of the emperor and empress of Japan from his home. A resolution was passed praising the American nation and the Red Cross for sending the quickest response to a stricken people in history.

FIRE GAINING ON DIANA DOLLAR

Crew May Be Forced Into Open Sea Off West Coast of Mexico

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—For the second time within twenty-four hours distress radio calls were received today from the freighter Diana Dollar, of the Robert Dollar line, reported afire after an explosion in her holds.

The ship, according to radio advice, is off the Mexican coast near Banderas bay.

First calls for assistance were picked up early yesterday by the Radio Corporation of America at Wilmington, but later reports from the burning ship reported the crew could handle the situation. However, a second call for help was intercepted early today.

The latest distress report that sixty members of the crew might be forced to take to life boats and asked all ships close by to rush to their aid.

Expect Succor Today
The American shipping board vessel President Hayes, the Dutch motorship Drecht Dyke, the Mexican vessel Cohulla, the steamer Argonne and the Cacique are all reported to be within a radius of 100 miles of the stricken ship and aware of her plight. The Cacique is expected to reach the Diana Dollar about 11 a. m. today.

According to intercepted messages here by the Federal Telegraph Company, Captain Anderson of the Diana Dollar has his boat anchored close to shore and the life boats lowered ready to take to them if necessary.

G. V. Reed, Banker at Lindsay, Slays Self

LINDSAY, Oct. 2.—Testimony at a coroner's inquest last night developed the unexpected fact that G. V. Reed, vice-president and manager of the First National bank of Lindsay, committed suicide some time early Monday morning instead of having died of heart trouble, as was first announced. According to the testimony at the inquest Reed's body was found in the bath room with a tube from a gas heating stove in his mouth and the gas turned on. A note addressed to his wife was found, the testimony revealed, in which he explained that "business pressure is too great for me. I cannot stand it any more." As far as ascertained, Reed's accounts at the bank are in perfect order. He had been vice-president since the organization of the institution in 1906.

Two Held for Failing to Aid Injured Boy

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—Failure to stop and render aid after the truck in which they were riding had struck and seriously injured a 10-year-old school boy, resulted in the holding in jail today of Charles Rowland and Conrad Miller.

Rowland was driving the truck when it struck Russell Taylor, the school boy, as the lad was crossing the street, near the Soutons school house.

Search Is Futile for Flood Wreck Victims

CASPER, Wyo., Oct. 2.—After a futile search of four days and nights for the score of missing dead in the wreck of Burlington passenger train No. 30, which plunged into Cole creek several days ago, practically all hope of recovering the bodies was abandoned here this morning.

Word was received here from Lockett early today that the body of an unidentified woman was taken from the chair car, but that decomposition and mutilation had rendered identification impossible.

Mulligan and Ragen Crew Go to Walton's Aid

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Thirty-seven members of the Ragen Athletic club of Chicago, led by William Mulligan, brother of the president, were on their way today to a secret destination in Oklahoma with the avowed purpose of aiding Governor Walton in what the executive calls a fight on the Ku Klux Klan.

H. E. Mulligan, president, announced the departure, saying that the hundred members had volunteered for duty and that a $5,000 fund had been subscribed for that purpose.

Sixty more members, he added, were to depart some time today on a like mission.

400 LOCKED IN SEIZED FORTRESS

German Nationalists Find Themselves Prisoners Following Revolt

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—Four hundred nationalists and twelve ring leaders who seized the fortress at Kuestrin Sunday night have all been arrested by the reichswehr, it was officially announced today.

After being disarmed they were locked up in the fortress which had been seized. The official statement placed the nationalist casualties at one dead and several wounded.

The regulars sustained no casualties.

Revolt Is Crushed
"This is now a closed incident," said the official announcement in conclusion.

The rapid crushing of the nationalist "revolt" at Kuestrin, 50 miles from Berlin, apparently took the heart out of the monarchists and militarists.

Officers of the Reichswehr, even those who were army leaders in the days of the empire, have pledged themselves to support the republic and the constitution.

The military censorship continues in effect.

Ludendorff Speaks
A dispatch from Munich quoted General Ludendorff as saying in a speech:

"Germany will see the black, white and red banner victorious once again."

Bavaria remains quiet under the iron rule of the Reichswehr (national defense troops).

The first break in the German cabinet over the break between Berlin and Bavaria came today when Minister of Economics Hans Von Raumer resigned.

Immediately after Von Raumer retired, Dr. Hans Luther, the food minister, handed in his resignation. Dr. Luther is a member of the Democratic party.

Von Raumer is a member of the German people's party, which earlier in the day issued an "ultimatum" demanding re-organization of the government to include nationalists. Hugo Stinnes, the great industrial magnate, is one of the members of this political party.

U. S. Navy Clerk Faces $2000 Theft Charge

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—Naval authorities started an investigation today of the theft of $2,000 from the U. S. S. Marcus' safe, while Roy Coleman, clerk in the destroyer's paymaster's office, was held in the county jail suspected of the robbery. Deputy sheriffs who arrested Coleman declared they were unable to locate the missing money. Coleman was ordered arrested on instructions from San Diego naval officers.

So This Is Paris! W. B. Kirk Writes in Descriptive Letter

"GAY PAREE" is the place from which W. B. Kirk's travel letter is dated today. In his last letter Mr. Kirk stated that he and his family were saying "Farewell" to England and starting for Paris. Today he tells of the trip from London and of their visit in the alluring French city. He writes:

W. B. KIRK

"Paris, September 5, 1923.—Our journey from London to Paris via Dover and Calais took us a whole day, leaving at 11 a. m. and arriving at 7 p. m. The train to Dover brought us through peaceful farming country where the natives grow lots of hops, a crop which used to be a large one in California, but which has 'gone by the boards.'"

"I noticed a number of apple orchards through there, where the trees looked well loaded, but the fruit is small. We didn't have a really good apple in Britain."

"During our last night in London, following a day of steady rain, we had a strong wind all night, which rattled our casements and disturbed our sleep, so we were not unprepared for a rough sea in the English Channel. I guess I am becoming seasoned, however, because I was on deck all this time and refused to be a bit sick, although we went through mountainous billows and it was impossible to move about."

"My family tried to have a little lunch aboard, but the dishes refused to stay put, so they didn't get much. I decided it would be wise for me to omit the 'eats.' The papers reported the gale to be very bad, both on the ocean and at all the French ports."

Need Interpreter
"There was a big lot of people coming across and a great deal of confusion at Calais, getting our baggage inspected and into our seats in the train. It was only by the aid of an interpreter in addition to the porter that we finally got through. Our train was about forty minutes late in getting away, and as their schedule is fast we didn't make up any time. As we came through Amiens and other towns mentioned so much during the war it certainly recalled those trying days."

"We were unable to secure rooms in the first three hotels we tried, but finally were referred to one where we are very comfortable. (Continued on page 5)

What Oklahoma Is Voting Upon At Polls Today

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 2.—Six measures are being voted upon by the people of Oklahoma today.

The one that drew the people to the polls was initiative petition No. 79, cause of the "war." It gives the legislature right to meet upon call of a majority of its members without the consent of the governor. The first application of the bill, if passed, would be immediate assembling of the legislature to impeach Governor Walton.

The other five constitutional amendments are a $35,000,000 soldiers' bonus bill; a measure providing a refund to depositors suffering from suspension of the bank guaranty fund; an act removing legal restrictions from women; a 15 1/2 mill school amendment and a workmen's compensation act amendment.

First Casualty Reported Among Civil Officers; Three Counties Not Voting In Obedience to Governor Walton's Final Orders

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 2.—The first bloodshed of election day was caused by an accident, Frank Zver, special deputy sheriff was shot in the arm today, while another sheriff was showing him a gun. His wound was not considered serious.

ARDMORE, Okla., Oct. 2.—Two forces of armed men, specially deputized for today's election were rushed to Healdton and Wilson, nearby oil towns, today by Sheriff London, who had reports from citizens there that serious trouble was threatened. Forty-five men were sent to Healdton; twenty-five to Wilson.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
For International News Service

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 2.—Fear of bloodshed at today's state-wide election held under conditions without parallel in American history was almost entirely dissipated when hour after hour passed without the slightest sign of disorder. The election promised to be the quietest and most orderly in the history of Oklahoma. Rain fell during part of the morning, but, in spite of the elements, the Oklahoma county vote was reported heavy.

The people were voting in 74 of Oklahoma's 77 counties, according to reports early this afternoon. At Bryan, Cimarron and Harper counties, election officials made no attempt to open the polls.

The polling places appeared to be virtual arsenals as thousands of newly-created deputies—"vigilantes"—they called themselves, prepared to block any attempt on the part of J. C. Walton's "minute men" to halt the election.

Thousands on Guard
It was this election Governor Walton had declared to be illegal and could not be held. Thousands of citizens, deputized as police officers at the last hour, were on duty at the polling places throughout the state, prepared for any emergency.

Nothing like it had ever happened in the history of Oklahoma, forty-sixth state in the Union, or for that matter any other state.

In Oklahoma county, wherein Oklahoma City is located, 5,000 "vigilantes" armed and determined to prevent the slightest interference or any overt act on the part of the "minute men," were policing the polls. At Norman, 600 deputies were on duty; at Tulsa, close to 1,500; at Muskogee, 1,000; in Creek county, 2,100, and so on, depending upon the tenseness in the particular counties.

Cowboys Voting
Cowboys in remote parts of Oklahoma were riding the trails many miles to cast their ballots. Early reports were that the anti-election forces were covered and that balloting was proceeding peacefully in most communities, although a strong element of danger remained.

At Waurika, Stephens county, a gang of seven men seized the ballot boxes. At Durant, Bryan county, District Judge Porter Newman refused to grant a restraining order against Sheriff John Chan from interfering with the election.

Autos Patrol Streets
Flying squadrons of armed men in automobiles patrolled Oklahoma City one of the "danger points" where disorders were feared.

Mayor O. A. Cargill, a giant in stature, fearless to the point of recklessness, himself a former policeman, headed an army of polling place defenders. This army, commissioned to carry arms and act as officers of the peace, comprised practically every business man in the city.

"We're ready for them," said the mayor.

The full strength of the police department, all three shifts, were placed at strategic points.

Squads of five men each were assigned to each of the seventy-eight precincts in Oklahoma City. They were supported by the eleven flying squadrons of ten men each and by a reserve of 500 deputies held at the sheriff's office for instant service as reinforcement troops.

Thirty high-powered automobiles were placed at the service of the reserve force by citizens.

John H. Shirk, an attorney, directed the movements of the flying squadrons.

Forming of Class A League Team for Glendale Is Aim of Organizers

The establishment of a Class A baseball team in Glendale is regarded as within the realm of early accomplishment, following the visit here yesterday of Josh Clark, manager of the Shell Oil Company's baseball team at Long Beach; Frank A. Kerwin, sport writer on the Los Angeles Examiner and manager of the athletic department of the B. H. Dyer Co. of Los Angeles; and Grant Leichner of Inglewood, who is interested in the promotion of a Class A league, on an inspection trip to locate possible sites on which baseball grounds might be laid out.

The visitors were conducted over Glendale by City Manager W. H. Reeves, who pointed out sites that could, in his opinion, be converted into playing fields that would permit the holding of ball games and where stands could be erected to accommodate any size crowd that would turn out for the pastime. These sites were carefully inspected by the three representatives of the proposed league, and they will report to their associates within the next few days on their investigations in Glendale.

'Peep' Kerwin's Brother
Frank A. Kerwin, who is a brother of "Peep" Kerwin, the catcher of the Glendale Merchants team, declared that Glendale can easily place itself in the same class as Long Beach and other cities that are now maintaining Class A teams, which are only one degree lower than the teams of the Pacific Coast league.

The proposed league would play ball all winter and would afford the fans here an opportunity to witness high class sport between the regular playing seasons.

big league teams, besides fostering the sport and training the younger players to take their places in the ranks of the leaders in the game.

"If you can get a baseball plant here right away," Josh Clark declared to City Manager Reeves, "you stand an excellent chance of bringing the Boston Red Sox here for their spring training."

Cooperation Assured
The visitors assured City Manager Reeves that the organization they represent is prepared to cooperate to the fullest extent in the establishment of a Class A league here, and immediately on receiving the promise that Glendale sport fans and the local organization would enter into the project seriously, they would place every resource at their disposal at the command of the basenai fans of this city to make it a success.

Jesse E. Smith, president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, has been working for the establishment of a Class C team.

English Socialists Favor Preparedness

LONDON, Oct. 2.—England has a socialist organization that is not altogether and unalterably opposed to armaments. The Democratic Federation has pronounced itself against: "Negative pacifism and sentimental drift." And in favor of: "Conscription." "Democratic army for national defense." "State production of armaments."

George Moore Bell, one of the leaders of the organization, says that while they "are not jingoists, they are not prepared to see their constitutional heritage, through which they hope to evolve a true social democracy, thrown away and subjected to the dominance of some autocrat of Europe."

COMMENT That's All

Paris And Its Papers Always Something Better Superior News Service Ten Pithy Paragraphs By Gil A. Cowan

APPRECIATION of American newspapers certainly is not what it should be. And we do not make this comment in a vindictive spirit.

W. B. Kirk, who is on a world tour with his family, sends copies of newspapers to him in the European cities to The Glendale Evening News. Norway and Denmark papers, where the news print for this edition of The Glendale Evening News comes from, are small, poorly printed, and of little value as mediums of general intelligence.

From Paris, however, come copies of world-famous journals which are the poorest excuses we have yet seen, for the London dailies did show some semblance of organization. The English papers, however, do not begin to compare even with those published in a city the size of Glendale as to volume and variety and style as we know it. Verily, they have a style of their own which it takes a Briton to enjoy.

Reverting to Le Matin and L'Ouvre of Paris, they team with editorial expression and less information than is contained on the front page of this issue of The Glendale Evening News. Their illustrations are scanty and cheap, their advertising patronage bespeaking the small reader interest in these journals.

However, we must not be too critical, for the columns of these Paris papers are not cluttered with cheap scandal. Nor do they devote columns to crime. They permit the Parisian theatres the pleasure of purveying sensuous pleasure, from the scant advertisements.

It is commonly known that Parisian papers are owned by politicians, being banded about by each administration and accepted as the mouthpiece of some particular party to crime. They might be compared to many county seat weeklies in the middle western states, but certainly they furnish no comparison for a modern American daily newspaper on the Pacific coast.

As we glance over the columns of The Glendale Evening News we sometimes wonder at Glendale boasting of such a paper, for many cities in the East of twice the size do not have as good.

It is not with the intention of throwing bouquets at ourselves that this is said, and we would point to other Southern California newspapers as being of similar calibre.

The Glendale Evening News is a result of a highly organized force of newspaper people combining their individual efforts into one great living object of admiration and information.

We are never satisfied that the work is thoroughly done, always looking for some method and means of improvement.

Using a sporting item of yesterday, for example, Georges Carpentier knocked out Joe Beckett in a little fight in London.

Greenwich time, and we received the news here on the coast about 2 o'clock, an hour or less elapsing in the transmission of the news from the English ringside to the office of The Glendale Evening News.

There is no doubt but what people in Glendale were at the result of this fight at the same instant their British cousins were. That is made possible by the superior service of the International News Service leased wire, which has scored a long list of news beats over every rival news-gathering organization in the world.

Here are some pertinent paragraphs from papers in California and Nevada which will tickle your risibilities:

It wouldn't be so difficult to abolish war if we could abolish proximity.—Chicago Record.

One man is a good as another when he is dead, wise he is not, and the Declaration of Independence doesn't say he is.—Tonopah Bonanza.

It takes more than a silk hat, a cane and a pair of spats to make civilization.—Oroville Register.

Soon as the Firpo-Dempsey winner gets rested a little we want him to meet a coal dealer—Santa Rosa Republican.

When a small town breaks up into foolish factions you can kiss goodbye to future development.—Red Bluff News.

Don't bring any of your original poems to this office. We sometimes say what we think—Sacramento Union.

The front entrance mind is in control of public opinion—long may it hold its own—San Mateo News Leader.

Don't laugh at freckles. The little tow-head of today may develop into the "prominent citizen" of tomorrow, and even freckles will be a ten-spot.—Willows Journal.

Now that scopolamin, the new truth drug, has been demonstrated with some success on human beings, why, inquires Howard Huggins, doesn't some one see what it would do to a gas meter?—Sacramento Star.

Laying aside all jokes, the people of Nevada are the richest folks of any state in the union. There may be isolated districts where the per capita wealth might, exceed this, but Nevada leads all the other states. Mr. won't California be jealous!—Elko Free Press.

SHIP MIDWESTERN GOODS TO EUROPE

Vessel Sails From Cleveland Carrying Cargo to Old World Ports

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2.—Products of the middle west landed in London, Liverpool and Manchester without breaking cargo! Wheat threshed from the golden harvest fields of the Dakotas and Minnesota; fabricated steel products made in the steel plants of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois; automobiles from Michigan and Ohio—these are but few of the things in the cargo of the freighter Vesia, which slipped from her pier at the Cleveland docks, bound on a long voyage down Lakes Erie and Ontario, the Welland canal and the St. Lawrence river, and then across the Atlantic for the ports of Britain.

In the same way the products of old England and the continent of Europe will be brought back, thus, according to the men behind the move, greatly reducing costs of transportation and bringing the markets of old and new worlds immeasurably nearer, and making their products for cheaper.

The Lakes and Ocean Steamship company, co-operating with Cleveland Chamber of Commerce has placed several vessels in this trade and the route now established will be maintained as long as navigation remains open on the great lakes. In the winter season the boats, formerly in the West Indian fruit traffic, will again be transferred to that service.

Cleveland Main Port
The ships will go up the Great Lakes as far as Duluth seeking cargo, but under the present plans Cleveland will be the chief American port. Owners of the vessels say full cargoes for the remaining months this year are assured.

Shipment of products by the all-water route, without breaking cargo, has long been the dream of mid-western statesmen and economists. To this end plans for the St. Lawrence-Ontario canal, greatly increasing the present draft of the Welland canal beyond its present 14-foot restriction, have been formulated. That this link eventually will be built is considered certain.

However, pending negotiations

Illinois Visitor Will Settle in Glendale

H. K. Ramsey, who, with his son, Neal, has been visiting for the past month with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Robinson of 420 West Oak street, has decided to remain in Glendale, and will go to business here in the near future. Mr. Ramsey comes from Bowen, Ill., the home town of Mr. Robinson, his brother-in-law. Mrs. James E. Neal, also of Bowen, who has been visiting with the Robinsons, left for home this morning, after a delightful month in Southern California.

Mineral Output Falls Off, Declares Report

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Mineral production in California for 1922, according to a report just issued by Lloyd L. Root, state mineralogist, shows the total value to be $245,183,826, a decrease of $22,975,646 from the 1921 total of $268,157,472. There are fifty-three mineral substances represented and all of the fifty-eight counties contributed to the output.

Sixteen million pairs of rubber boots and shoes were exported in the world last year.

now in progress between the American and Canadian governments, the present experiment will be watched with interest.

Railroad influences popularly are believed to be doing all they can to prevent the consumation of the agreement between the two countries to build the canal, which has been declared entirely feasible by a board of the most eminent engineers.

Opposition Charged

It has been charged also that Montreal, New York, Buffalo and other American and Canadian seaboard ports are doing everything possible to delay the agreement which will make Chicago, Detroit, Duluth, Toledo, Cleveland and other lake ports seaports with all the advantages that go with the cheap water transportation.

Former Governor James P. Goodrich of Indiana, one of the strongest advocates of the construction of this canal, recently pointed out that lumber from the forests of Washington is now transported by way of the Panama canal to New York, and then is shipped as far west as Indiana, the freight under these conditions being lower than the all-rail route from the west to that state.

HOSE SCARCE AT FRENCH BEACHES

Devotees of Fashion Display Bare Legs at All Hours Around Deauville

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Yes, we have no stockings today, sing the Parisiennes at fashionable French beaches this summer. Bare legs are the rule at any hour of the day or at least the appearance of bare legs.

Many a fair limb is encased in the most transparent flesh-colored covering, no thicker than the finest gauze and not much more substantial than a cob-web. In fact, the fair wearers tell us that they can stand only a few hours of wearing. White is taboo and colors as well. Dame Fashion says it must be flesh tint or none at all.

Jewels in Morning

Jewels are worn even in the morning. Diamond bracelets in various designs adorn bare arms as early as 10 o'clock. Beads and pendants match the gown.

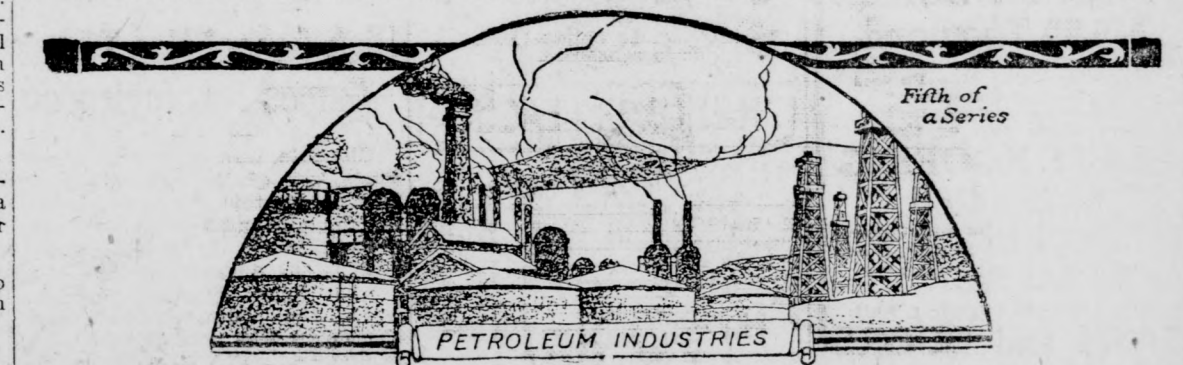

The morning toilette is usually sportive. White predominates brightened often by one of the gay jackets. Around the shoulders to replace the fur neckpiece there are stunning foulards in multi-colors recalling the little shawls of the Russian peasants. Hats are simple and invariably cloche shape. Unveiled and ungloved, Madame promenades with a cane in her hand.

One wonders what has become of all the beautiful parasols the fashionable shops display forth at the beginning of the season for one never sees them. Sunburn is the fashion and there are plenty of iodine ladies on every beach.

Simplicity Seen
Simplicity reigns for afternoon wear. Sport demands it. Simplest costumes in printed muslin, foulards and Indian impressions are in abundance. Many have fringes which have just returned. They are thick and silky.

When evening comes jewels come forth in greater numbers than ever. With them come many lovely scarfs in tulle and enormous fans or ostrich feathers. Sumptuous fur mantles, silver lame capes and gorgeous shawls make up the wraps.

Bottom of the ocean covering half the globe is in total darkness because the sun's rays cannot penetrate so deep.

Where "Black Gold" Flows in the Pacific-Southwest

THE Pacific-Southwest is producing 28% of the world's supply of petroleum. Production in this district has far exceeded the demands of the Pacific Coast and consequently large quantities are being shipped to Eastern and Gulf ports through the Panama Canal, and to various other parts of the world. Los Angeles Harbor, leading the world in the exportation of petroleum, set a new weekly record of 3,175,000 barrels in July.

Since the first of this year the average daily production in the Pacific-Southwest has increased by 330,000 barrels and is now exceeding 886,000 barrels per day. The value to the producer at the field of the crude oil output in this territory during the first six months of 1923 was more than $107,000,000.00.

S. D. COLLEGE AND OXY TO TANGLE

Tigers Developing Class as Practices Proceed, Says Writer

By LARRY RAYMOND
Written for The Evening News
On Saturday, October 6, Occidental's varsity football team will meet the eleven of the State Teachers' College at San Diego. Head Coach "Timberwolf" Pipal is very enthusiastic over the excellent showing of his men in the numerous scrimmages with the troopers. He is having plenty of hard workouts for the men and they are beginning to show all kinds of class.

Assistant Coach Rundquits is developing the strongest line that the Tigers have had in several years, in fact since 1916, when the Oxy team beat California, the last time any college has defeated the Bears. The line has as a nucleus five all-conference prospects. Spangler and Argue are the speediest pair of wing men that ever donned a Tiger uniform. Prilauk is manipulating the center position even better than last season. Art Garey and Jack Stevens are the prize tackles and possess plenty of beef and are fighting foils. Mac Donald, Snood, Creighton, Davidson are the competing candidates for the guard jobs.

The backfield has all the power and speed that won for them many a game last season. Ebers Ridenhough, Shoaf and Westgate are the chief backfield men of fame. Several old timers are helping Coach Pipal to whip his men into shape before Saturday's contest. Gene Cory, Ralph Deems, Fred Johnson and others are lending their store of knowledge that the Oxy team can go down to the City of the Rising Sun and duplicate the victory of last year.

TAGGING THE BASES

Walberg, relief pitcher, not only confined the Senators to three hits through the last eight innings but doubled off Walter Johnson in the eleventh, giving the Athletics a 4 to 3 edge.

The Tigers cake-walked to a 16 to 5 decision over the White Sox, scoring 8 runs in the opener.

Owing to the manhandling of Danforth, Grant and Root, the Indians stepped out to a 13 to 5 victory over the Browns.

Practically every foreign family in China owns a photograph.

When "Sad Sam" Jones, the Yanks' star hurler, turned the Athletics back without a hit or a run, he stepped up among the immortals of the mound. For not so many have pulled this feat in baseball since the game has been played as it is today.

But two players reached first, one on a pass and the other on an error, and both these failed to get to second.

But for these two bobbles "Sad Sam" would have had a perfect game and equaled the feat of Cy Young in 1904 when he shut out the Athletics. Not a player reached first. Then Eddie Jones pulled the perfect performance in the box against the White Sox, and last year young Charles Robertson, a rookie, white-washed the hard-hitting Detroit club and turned every player back to the bench without so much as a look at first.

Jones is a very modest, quiet fellow. He has been pitching in the big leagues since 1914 when Cleveland got him from Portsmouth. In 1916 he was traded to Boston in the Speaker deal. Then the Yanks got him in a trade involving Scott, Bush, Quinn, Collins, DeCossing and Piercy. That was the deal that caused the fans of the Beany City to holler their heads off.

Jones has always been a winning pitcher. He has a fine curve, good control and pitching temperament. He is 31 years old, bats and throws right-handed, and was born in Woodfield, Ohio.

"Sad Sam" has pitched close to 20 victories so far this season. On this record it is almost certain that he will pitch the opening game of the World Series for the Yankees.

Glendale Union High school sends two of its football teams into action this afternoon, when the Class B and also Class C pip-skinners meet the two Pasadena lightweight aggregations.

The Pasadena toy bulldogs were the Southern California champions last year and have a good many veterans back on the team. For this reason, this should be one of the hardest fights that the baby Dynamites will participate in this season.

Coach Eugene Wolfe's newly-organized crew of fleawrights will engage in their first game when they take the field against the Pasadena Pikes. As the local 110-pounders have not had much practice, they will have to fight hard to defeat the opposing forces.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—The international air meet, which was to have opened formally this morning, has been postponed to October 4, 5 and 6, according to announcement made by the St. Louis air board yesterday. Decision to postpone the races came after inspection of St. Louis air field early today, which was flooded by heavy rains yesterday. Accidents were feared with a soggy field.

At Boston—Jack Renault, New York, knocked out Fred Fulton of Minnesota, in ninth round. Jack Schoendorf, Minnesota, won from Alex Trambitas of California in ten rounds.

At Chicago—Sailor Freedman of Chicago knocked out Cowboy Padgett of Dolores, Colo., third round.

Glendale Radio Gas Bowlers in Speedy League

GLENDALE, represented under the name of the Radio Gas five, will clash tonight with Harold Lloyd's comedians, at the Broadway alleys, Ninth street and Broadway, Los Angeles, in the first major league game of the Southern California Bowling association.

The local team, lined up by Jim McCoy, comprises Roder, Covell, Anstey, Brehme and Neise, all classy ball-rollers.

A large following of the faithful will be on hand at the Broadway alleys to see the Radio Gassers and the Harold Lloyders send the pins flying.

Glendale Ave. School Athletic Drive Is On

A membership drive to last one week was launched Monday by the Athletic Association of Glendale Avenue Intermediate school, with the class rooms competing for the banner that will be presented to the room that enrolls the largest percentage of the class roll. Following the close of the drive, nominations will be in order for the election of officers for the coming school term.

Soccer and Football Practice Under Way

The boys turned out with enthusiasm Monday afternoon at Glendale avenue school when the playgrounds were first formally opened for practice in soccer and football. The activities will be directed by H. E. Bremer and H. P. Fitzpatrick.

The girls' playground will open today, under the direction of Miss Alice Lookabaugh, Miss Natalie Mackay and Miss Ruth Williams.

'Palms Down' Is Order of N. Y. Holdup Men

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—"Stick 'em up" is passe in New York among the gun-toting elite. The new order is "Palms down!"

It was first heard when gunmen held up, or down, members of the S. G. Independent Political club recently. After taking $3000 from their victims' pockets the hold-up men forced the club members to sit on the floor while they made their exit.

Gridiron Star's Death Follows Amputation

DENVER, Oct. 2.—The first football fatality in the Rocky mountain region for the 1923 season was reported today in the death of Buell Crawford, member of the Western State college eleven of Gunnison. Crawford died in a Salida hospital from blood poisoning, following the amputation of a leg that had been broken during football practice.

ZEV RACES MY OWN

The Short Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—In line with the current practice of finding holes in the Swiss cheese, it might be mentioned that as the world's series proposition, the Yankees hold a definite advantage over the Giants in the matter of familiarity with the playing fields. Having used the Polo grounds as their home for a number of years, the Yankees are duly aware of its physical peculiarities. One cannot say the same for the Giants in connection with the Yankee stadium.

They have never played as much as a half inning at the stadium, and although they hope to gain some familiarity with its contour by means of a workout there on Wednesday, it is altogether probable that they will step out for the opening game with barely a general idea of what to expect in the way of lights and shadows. No one can learn the stadium's features in a single day.

Shadow May Help

In the first place, its triple deck grandstand throws a deeper shadow over the infield than any other park in the country. This may prove a decided help to Giant outfielders in the efforts to judge fly balls, particularly in the late afternoon.

The Giants may also find some difficulty in solving the batted turf in front of the stands in left and right field, a feature that does not prevail at the polo grounds nor at any other National league field the writer remembers.

The outfielder, chasing a long fly, might very easily be thrown out of stride by sudden inclines where his feet had been led to expect level ground.

It took George H. Ruth, the well-known outfielder, months to accustom himself to the most particular right field wall in the country.

Chasing Fouls Easier

The Giant infielders will have their troubles also. The formation of the stands at the Polo grounds follows the line of a huge horse shoe and gives infielders plenty of room to chase foul balls. The Yankee stands are shaped like a hair pin, with its prongs slightly bent outward. This brings the concrete stands very close to the infield and there is bound to be a bit of uncertainty on the part of any infielder who does not know to a foot how far he can run with his eye on a foul.

GIANT OUTFIELD PLAYER IS STAR

Ross Young Makes Temporary Post Permanent With McGraw Outfit

Back in 1918 Davey Robertson was slated to star another year in the Giant outfield. But Davey and the Giant bosses couldn't agree on several matters.

It was announced, during that time, that Ross Young, late of the Rochester International league, "would play in Davey's place until that gent reported."

When Young read this news he said: "They might just as well have left off that part about 'until Davey reports,' because I'm going to play that outfield from now on."

Wherein Ross had the right dope.

He has been playing the outfield regularly for McGraw through championship and near-championship campaigns, and now ranks as one of the best outfielders in the business.

Giant fans will put their dough on him against Harry Hooper, George Burns, Billy Southworth, Harry Heilmann or any other diligent fly chaser.

One New Yorker sums it up when he says "That bird can do anything as well as any outfielder in the big."

Young joined the Giants ready to play shortstop or second base. Necessity is the mother of outfielders as well as inventions. McGraw wanted another emergency outfielder and had a surplus of infield material. He saw quickly that Young had the speed, judgment on fly balls and strong whip that go to make up a good outfielder, so made him over.

Ross Young has told everybody in his home town of Shiner, Tex., that the Giants are due to cop again this year. And with Ross on the team the home folks fail to see how the Giants can fail so to do.

Iceland to Utilize Natural Steam Heat

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Oct. 2.—Natural steam heating plants are being considered by the authorities here. It is proposed to harness natural hot springs and geysers in order that they may furnish heat for the entire town, doing away with the use of coal.

Micbaux invented the bicycle in 1855.

THE GLENDALE

"She Loves and Lies," featuring Norma Talmadge, is the picture at the Glendale theatre today. In this film, Miss Talmadge portrays two angles of the well-known eternal triangle, being her own rival for the affections of her husband.

The story is taken from a play by Wilkie Collins, of the same name, very popular a few years back. Greenwich Village, celebrated habitat of short-haired women and long-haired men, dubbed "Hoboken" by Irvin S. Cobb, is the locale for much of the action of the piece.

"She Loves and Lies" was directed by Chester Withey. Supporting Norma Talmadge is a splendid cast including Conway Tearle, Octavia Brose, Ida Darling and others of ability. The picture is released by the Selznick Distributing corporation.

THE GATEWAY

"Rupert of Hentzau," now showing at the Gateway theatre, is hailed as a hurricane of thrills and climaxes. Sir Anthony Hope, the author, has to his credit such famous stories as "The Prisoner of Zenda," of which the present offering is the sequel.

Under the direction of Victor Heerman, from a scenario by Edward J. Montague, a masterful photodrama has been evolved. One of the big sets alone measured 307 feet in length and covered the entire width of the United Studios stage.

In the strong cast are such stars as Bert Lytell, Elaine Hammerstein, Lew Cody, Claire Windsor, Bryant Washburn, Marjorie Daw, Mitchell Lewis, Hobart Bosworth, Elmo Lincoln, Irving Cummings and Josephine Crowell. The story deals with the romantic adventures of a young Englishman in a mythical European principality.

ably located, in a very central location close to the Louvre, between the Rue de Rivoli and Avenue de l'Opera.
"We secured some more mail here at the office of the American Express Company and also received from Copenhagen a coat of the wife which was lost on the boat coming from New York.

Picture of Paris
"So this is Paris! How many thousands of times we, as well as you, have pictured this great city in our minds, and at last we are permitted to see it and mingle in its crowds for a few days. And we are not disappointed. It is one fine city. The discolored air of most of its buildings by age and coal smoke mars its appearance somewhat, but the people who were responsible for the laying out of this town certainly had an eye to the future as well as to the beautiful, and they planned a marvelous place.

"Friday afternoon I spent in getting our bearings and in taking a long walk through the Tuilleries gardens past the Obelisk presented to Louis Philippe, up the Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triomphe, under which is the grave of the unknown soldier, then south through the Avenue Kleber to the Trocadero, and far from the Eiffel tower, back through Avenue President Wilson and along the Seine past the Musee Galliera, the Grand Palace and Petit Palais to the Tuilleries again, the Louvre and home.

It is magnificent
"Some walk" you'll say, who have been here. But how I enjoyed it! The broad expanse of flowers, trees, walks, fish ponds, statues, of the Tuilleries, the wide sweep of parkways and boulevards, of the streets paralleling the river and the celebrated Champs Elysees with its dignified buildings set back from its wide promenades, terminating at the great Arc de Triomphe, all is magnificent. Certainly I have never seen anything to compare with it.

"The Seine is confined within well-constructed bulkheads and is spanned by many fine bridges, one of which, Pont de Alexandre Third, is very wide, with large and high abutments, statues and ornaments, and is a marvel of beauty. Pleasure boats seem to be carrying many passengers.

"We have since seen many of the celebrated places here and have visited Versailles, seeing the fountains play for the last time this season.

"The collections in the galleries, museums and corridors of the Louvre have been most interesting and enjoyable, the only bad feature being the distances necessary to be covered in order to get even a cursory look at all of them, especially by those who are not strong. Consequently we have confined ourselves largely to the things of most interest and what we regard as best, such as the works of Raphael, Titian, Rembrandt, Van Dyck, Rubens and the like. These pictures are of interest to anyone, although he may not think them all equally as well executed as "The Mona Lisa," "The Angelus" and "The Gleaners," the most celebrated pictures, and the "Venus de Milo" of the sculpture.

"I took time to see some of the large pictures by Italians of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, of the old school, on Biblical themes. Many of the pictures of Christ and his mother and also of the apostles and saints are in the most distasteful garb and attitudes and with the most ludicrous poses and bodies imaginable. Having ample charity for the age in which they were done, how on earth any artist could have so little conception of the proper and the beautiful as to paint such hideous pictures is beyond my conception. These pictures appear here by the score and there are also numbers of them in the British National Gallery in London.

"A continuation of their stay in Paris will be given in Mr. Kirk's next letter.

SOLEMN NOTE IN FINAL SERVICES

Presbyterians Mark Last Day in Broadway Church
With Communion

The Sunday services at the Glendale Presbyterian church marked an epoch in the history of the congregation. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed during the morning service. The largest number of new members received for many months was publicly welcomed to the membership. The audience present taxed the capacity of every nook and corner of the auditorium.

At the evening service the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, preached an evangelistic message, using as his subject "The Closed Door." He made a touching appeal to all to enter before the door is finally closed. At the close of his message a considerable number accepted the invitation and accepted Jesus Christ as their Saviour. In the afternoon service many took part, among whom was Rev. Millikan, the pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, which will hereafter use the church building as their place of worship.

Spirit of Harmony
All the services of the day were peculiarly impressive and dignified. A deep spiritual atmosphere pervaded both the morning and evening audiences and the hope was expressed again and again in both conversation and prayer that the atmosphere of the old church might be carried over into the new. Mingled feelings of sorrow and gladness filled the hearts of the people. The loyalty of the people and their spirit of unity takes them into the new building in a spirit of beautiful harmony.

The prayer meeting this week will be held in the new church. The Sunday morning services will be held in the Glendale Theatre and the Sunday evening services will be on the first floor of the new church until the auditorium is ready for occupancy, which will be in November.

Studio to Show New Photographic Styles

Glen R. Dolberg, proprietor of the Dolberg Studio, 206 1/2 West Broadway, has installed a new display front, preparatory to a showing of the new fall photographic styles that will be held there starting October 10.

Mr. Dolberg has also installed new equipment throughout, adding special lenses, lights and enlarging apparatus, together with improved facilities for reproduction and preservation of old and treasured photographs.

Marriage Is Clue to New Murder Mystery

quantities to cause death was not divulged.

It was the manner in which the poison, apparently a bichloride of mercury substance, was administered, which overshadowed other phases of the case today. The findings of Dr. Gettler, it was learned, show that this mineral substance was injected, as it does not appear in the digestive tract. This fact, with the finding of "black and blue" spots on Mrs. Webb's body by Dr. William K. Meyer, attending physician at the time of death, heightened the mystery in the case.

Dr. Meyer was to appear before District Attorney Rowland at White Plains today and tell his story.

Dorothy Dayton and Anna Herzog, nurses who attended Mrs. Webb, also appeared. Others who will confer with Rowland today are: Judge John T. McIntyre of general sessions and his wife, life-long friends of Mrs. Webb; Mrs. Robert S. Johnson, wife of former General Sessions Judge Johnson, in whose arms Mrs. Webb died; Irving Burdick, attorney for Mrs. Webb; Dr. Davenport West, a former physician, and William T. Hunter, Mrs. Webb's uncle.

Regardless of the criminal proceedings, a will contest was made certain today when Attorney Burdick was to file for probate a will made by Mrs. Webb in 1921—just before her marriage. This will leaves her estate of $2,000,000 to friends and charity.

A will filed for probate by her husband yesterday consisted of twenty lines and gave him her entire property. This will was written and signed while Mrs. Webb was ill.

people to educate. Our aim is that there be no dogmatism and no propaganda advanced simply on the authority of the workers and their children so they may form their opinions after being informed."

President Gompers pointed out that those who teach have exhibited of late years a complete desire to co-operate with the workers' educational bureau. Spencer Miller, representing the latter organization, spoke at length in tracing the movement of education among the trade unions.

Tells of Success
Success of the farmer-labor movement in Minnesota is proof the American Federation of Labor should amend its settled policy of sponsoring no third party, according to a resolution submitted by E. G. Hall, representative of the Minnesota State Federation.

Hall's resolution cites as proof the ability of labor "to get somewhere by this method" the election of Magnus Johnson and Dr. Henry Shipstead as senators from Minnesota. It further charged that the old political parties are "utterly bankrupt."

Twenty-eight resolutions covering a wide field of subjects, were introduced today. The Washington State Federation of Labor urged the A. F. of L. to back the child labor amendment to the federal constitution providing that congress shall have concurrent powers with the several states to regulate and prohibit the employment of children under 16 years of age.

Confiscation Lowers Copper Boiler Stocks

MARTINS FERRY, Oct. 2.—Copper washboilers are becoming scarce. Time was when they were seized with regularity by police prohibition raiders. Officers said that, in view of frequent raids, operators of stills, evidently, have found it less expensive to use cheaper boilers. They said they are unable to meet the requests of friends for confiscated copper boilers.

PLANE AS AMBULANCE

Aerial mail service men in Australia not only carry mail but help in general public service. Pilot Kingsford Smith of the West Australian Nor'West aerial mail service recently picked up a man with a poisoned face at Onslow. He then struck a 50-mile gale and was blown 34 miles inland, where he landed. There he put a man with a broken arm in his machine and took both sufferers to Carnarvon for medical attention.

ENVOYS TELL OF SCOUTS' MEET

Delegates to Santa Barbara Conference Enthused
Over Spirit Shown

The five delegates who represented the Verdugo Hills Boy Scout council at the Older Scouts conference at Santa Barbara, September 28, 29 and 30, returned Sunday night.

Senior Patrol Leader Arthur Barton of Glendale Troop No. 2 remarked that he never realized before the extent to which older boys are participating in Boy Scout activities. A survey showed that of the 217 registered delegates and leaders who attended the conference, four were college students, thirty-six were seniors in high school and all but three of the remainder were going to high school.

"I got the impression that the cream of Scouting was there," declared Kenneth Solomon, another delegate from Troop No. 2. Kenneth maintained that the conference had given him something that he had always wanted, but never realized before in his scout work.

Sees Improvement
Glenn Cunningham of Troop No. 3, Glendale, claims that he came back to Glendale a great deal better prepared to help out scouting over in his troop. Star Scout Robert Eastman of Troop No. 2 said that the conference put the Scout laws in an entirely new light. Robert attended the 1922 conference at Sacramento, and he stated that this year's conference far exceeded that of last year in both attendance and morale.

Francis J. W. Henry of 224 West Arden avenue, who accompanied the delegates as their friend and counselor, came in for considerable praise by the boys. He was with them at the opening of the conference. Mr. Henry said that he enjoyed the conference very much, and that he could not have accompanied a better set of delegates.

Will Tell Others

At a meeting of the delegates Monday evening at the district Scout office, plans were formulated for visiting the various civic organizations and troops in the district. Each delegate will talk two minutes and the subjects are as follows: "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His Home," Glenn Cunningham; "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His School," Kenneth Solomon; "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His Community," Charles Boserman; "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His Church," Robert Eastman; "High Lights of the Conference," is the subject assigned to Arthur Barton.

It is thought that the delegates will talk at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club Thursday, October 4; the Kiwanis club, Friday, October 5, and the Exchange club, Wednesday, October 10. They will visit troops in the following order: Wednesday evening October 3, Troop No. 4, Glendale; Friday evening, October 5, Troops 1, 2 and 3, Glendale; Thursday evening, October 11, Troops 1, 2 and 3, Burbank; Friday evening, October 12, La Crescenta Troop No. 1 and Tujunga Troop No. 1.

Play French Air as U. S. Envoy Appears

ELYRIA, Oct. 2.—Myron T. Herrick, United States ambassador to France, paid an unexpected visit to his boyhood home near Wellington. The crowd stood when he entered the grandstand at the Wellington fair and the band immediately played the "Marsellaise." Herrick bowed in acknowledgment but did not make a speech.

Electric Drill Bores Workman's Life Out

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—Overturning of an electric drill at the Baldwin Locomotive Works caused the death of Charles Traken, thirty-eight, its operator, when the sharp pointed machine drove at full speed clear through his body.

Workmen hastily shut off the current, but Traken died shortly after being removed to the hospital.

ing squadrons. Captains of the squadrons include a minister and a member of the board.

Not a shot had been fired or an arrest been made in Oklahoma City an hour and a half after the polls had opened, Capt. D. J. Han of the police department, told International News Service.

The National Guardsmen, whom Governor Walton had said, would prevent the polling places from opening were relieved from duty at Oklahoma City at 4 o'clock this morning.

This unexpected action followed a warning from Mayor Cargill that the city would brook no interference from the military; that the civil police were equal to the occasion.

A few hours before, from midnight until 3 a. m., there had been unusual activity on the part of the military. Motor transports containing scores of soldiers in khaki appeared on the scene.

A tenseness prevailed during that period that was not in evidence when the civil authorities and the "villagers" later took charge of the situation.

Newspaper men traversing the streets on foot or in taxicabs were repeatedly halted. This correspondent was stopped nine times after midnight in riding from the office of the Oklahoma Leader to the court house, a distance of nine blocks. Each time the guardsman demanded to see the military pass given newspaper men and searched the car for firearms.

Tin hats and chin straps were worn by the guardsmen. They carried their revolvers in holsters and nobody went unchallenged.

At 4 o'clock this morning, without any explanation, although it was reported Mayor Cargill had a hand in the matter, the military was suddenly withdrawn from the streets of Oklahoma City and the civil force took full charge.

It was announced that Governor Walton's military passes would no longer be needed; that, in fact, they would not be recognized.

"The vote is fully up to our rosiest expectations," W. D. Bee, leader of the anti-Walton forces, announced shortly before noon. Governor Walton declined to see newspaper men this morning. He was secluded in his home.

Legion Men to Wear Dress of Forty-nine

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—The 15,000 men and women from the state of California attending the National American Legion convention this month, October 15-19, can be readily pointed out by any delegation or citizen while in San Francisco by the nature of their costumes.

Department Commander James P. Collins has issued a bulletin to all posts advising them to attend the convention in 49ers' hats and the red bandanna handkerchiefs tied around their necks as the distinctive California costume.

At all past national conventions, California has been represented by 200 or 300 people, all of whom have worn the California '49 costume. At this convention California expects to have 15,000 people in San Francisco, which should create an atmosphere in that city unique in the annals of its history of recent days.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You
Darken Gray, Faded Hair
With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Advertisement.

FREE AUTO PARK FOR A HUNDRED CARS

Permit for Auto Camp Referred to Officials

Application for permit to continue to operate an auto camp at 146 South San Fernando road was received last night by the City Council.

Henry W. Detweiler of 146 South San Fernando road was the applicant. He was represented at the meeting by Attorney Harry Chase of 103-A North Brand boulevard, who stated that his client was anxious to pay the necessary license fee.

Upon inquiry, City Attorney Ray L. Morrow reported that the application should be referred to Dr. G. H. Kaemmerling, city health officer, and Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police. This action was taken.

The property consists of two and a half acres with a frontage of 189 feet on San Fernando road and a depth of 622 feet. The camp would be limited to eighty-five automobiles and restricted to 200 people.

A petition complimenting the manner in which this camp is Metal Lath and Plaster Buildings Get O. K.

Metal lath and plaster buildings may be permitted in all commercial districts, which are not part of Fire District No. 1.

The present ordinance requires all commercial buildings to be fireproof. The new ordinance will make it mandatory for only the commercial buildings in Fire District No. 1 to be fireproof.

TUJUNGA

L. A. LOSES SUIT FOR WATER RIGHT

Long Drawn Legal Battle to Be Dropped, Is Belief of M. V. Hartranft

Unless the City of Los Angeles objects to spending an amount but slightly less than $20,000 for costs and attorneys' fees it will retain the right to continue the suit to establish the rights of the city to the waters of Tujunga canyon.

Judge Leslie R. Hewitt of the Superior Court gave judgment in favor of the defendants. The judgment is due and payable on October 10. If paid then the case is clear for further hearing on October 29. If the city balks at the expenditure and appeals, the case will be dismissed.

The Western Empire Association and the Haines Canyon Water company were awarded $10,000. The rest, an amount in excess of $9,000, goes to the Tujunga Water and Power company, representing the Hansen interests. In addition to these costs the city pays its own attorneys and as yet has nothing to show for it.

Thinks Case Ended

It is the opinion of many that the case has been pursued as far as it ever will be. M. V. Hartranft of the Western Empire Association has this to say in regard to the suit: "I think the case is over. In the first place, the supreme court has sustained the definition of the paramount rights of Los Angeles to be that domestic waters and water for live stock are excepted and whatever remnant of a right then remains cannot be used unless the Los Angeles river is dry at the Dayton avenue bridge. The river never dries there and cannot be with the aqueduct supply near replenishing the upper gravel beds.

"The whole decision, in fact, is much like the man who charged that he was bitten by his neighbor's dog. The neighbor replied 'The dog didn't bite me, have any teeth, and that the dog was not there on that day and that in fact he had no dog in the first place.

"But if the city of Los Angeles had paramount rights that meant anything the time has gone by when she can use them. Los Angeles cannot fool with a relatively small watershed like the Tujunga. The city has already been beaten in its suit in the Owens river gorge and Los Angeles is now after the Colorado river water or bust. If Los Angeles wants to have reservoirs around the city she should have bought the land ten and twelve years ago.

Turn to Colorado

"Not having done so and suffered such severe defeats in Tujunga and in the Owens river gorge case, there is nothing for Los Angeles to do but to go to the Colorado river, and if you could look down from a flying machine that is probably where you would find the engineers of the big city right now.

"This old suit, out of which the city got nothing but burned fingers, may be allowed to hang on the records in order to prevent outside operations by the Tujunga Water and Power company, but I do not believe it will ever be tried. At least, we shall soon know.

"If the suit were tried and won by the city in accordance with its paramount victory over Burbank section and San Fernando the exceptions then declared by the supreme court would protect and cover safely all the uses and operations that the local water companies in this valley now make of that Tujunga watershed. It would block extensions to include La Crescenta. How important it is to the City of Los Angeles to block operations of outside water operators such as the Hansen interests is well known.

"The city lost its appeal at Washington against Hansen also. We can find no sane reason for the city pressing its suit against the Hansen interests, and while we are defendants because of our original interest in the condemnation side of the case, we shall pay but little heed to the suit from now on. I make the guess that it will die on the docket."

Will Enlarge Church

Sketches will be drawn by Arthur G. Lindley, architect of Los Angeles, of the proposed addition to the Tujunga Community church and presented to the building committee for approval. Members of the Men's Brotherhood pledged $500 to the building fund. The Ladies Aid Society also subscribed $500. It is expected that work will begin as soon as the sketches have been approved and the plans drawn.

Ralph Murray died at his home on Hillcrest drive, Monday after an illness of several months. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Dollie Murray of the same address, and a brother, Roy E. Murray of Monte Vista boulevard.

ROTARIANS WILL DO THEIR STUFF

Ten Club Members Sign Up for Speaking School of University

Burbank Rotarians are having a good time at their meetings engaging in oratory which Principal Leonard Collins of the grammar school has inveigled them into studying through the extension division of the University of California.

Major J. C. Crawford, who recently became the Union Pacific's agent, heads the list of those who believe the gas bomb is more deadly than the pop gun. Riley, Ray Sence and Secretary Sandy Sandison, not to forget Andy Fillbach, who has the last say, and Dr. Butterfield complete the class.

They are threatening to practice their "book learned speeches" on the Glendale Rotary club, it is said.

The next dinner and business meeting of the Burbank Business and Professional Women's club will be held at the Presbyterian church, Thursday night, October 4, at 6:15 o'clock. Miss Lily Galpin will be the speaker. "The American Woman in Politics" is her subject. Mrs. Homer Jones will sing a solo. Miss Octavia Lesueur is making reservations for the affair.

CHANGE SITE OF RANGER STATION

New Arrangement to Simplify Issue of Fire Permits to Forest Campers

In the near future campers desiring fire permits for the Tujunga canyon will be able to get the permission of the forest ranger, without going to Sunland for it. The forest ranger's station on Michigan avenue, in Sunland, will be moved, probably to a location on Walnut drive. This street is the one used by motorists in entering the canyon and a station there would prove more convenient than the present one.

Ranger Tilton, in charge last year, found his home on Walnut drive more convenient than the station. This year Ranger Ted Montgomery has been located at the Sunland station.

P. W. Lewis died at his home in Sunland Tuesday morning, September 25, at the age of 61 years. He was born in Tennessee and came to California thirty years ago. For the last five years Mr. Lewis had been a resident of Sunland.

He leaves a wife, Mrs. Lois Lewis; a sister, Mrs. Willis Greer, of Los Angeles, and a brother, Walter Lewis, in Texas.

EAGLE ROCK

'UNDER HARVEST MOON' PAGEANT

Original Presentation by 200 Clever Children Planned as P.-T. A. Event

More than 200 children will take part in a pageant entitled "Under the Harvest Moon" at the Harvest Home festival, to be held by the Eagle Rock Parent-Teacher association at the Central school grounds, October 19 and 20, it is announced.

This pageant is an original production, written and directed by three members of the association, and it will be the crowning glory of the festival for which plans are now being made.

Tomorrow presides the end of a drive for Parent-Teacher association members, and all those who have not given the kiddies their 50 cents dues are urged to do so today, according to Mrs. Reiter, president of the association.

All members are cordially invited to an informal reception for the faculty of the Eagle Rock schools, which will be held in the kindergarten room of the Central Avenue school Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. R. Scott, extension secretary of the Parent-Teacher association in Los Angeles, will be the speaker. Refreshments will be served, following the meeting which is called for 2:30.

At this time the class winning the Parent-Teacher association membership drive will be announced and these little folks are due for a party, it is stated. All of them have conducted an extraordinary campaign and enriched the association's treasury by several hundred dollars.

Improvement Association

Police Chief August Vollmer of Berkeley and Los Angeles, crime expert extraordinary, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Eagle Rock school auditorium Wednesday night, according to H. Bruce, president. Every Eagle Rock booster is expected to attend, and for this reason the open forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce this month has been postponed, according to Donald G. Montgomery, secretary.

However, John T. Bailey, Mrs. A. G. Reilly and Prof. W. H. Amos, all members of a committee planning a banquet in honor of O. J. Root, president of the Chamber of Commerce who is returning from Moline, Ill., and Michigan points, where he has spent the summer. This will take place the last part of November and serve as the first fall get-together of the chamber.

Local and Personal

B. B. Martsof, who resigned his duties as Eagle Rock's city clerk last Saturday night, is now connected with the Valley Planing mill in Van Nuys.

Donnell G. Montgomery, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has been appointed deputy city clerk for Los Angeles and will officiate on the mezzanine of the Eagle Rock municipal building.

It is announced at the City Hall that offices will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily. Oliver Phillips with the building and plumbing permit work. Electrical permits will be issued from 1 to 2 p. m. daily by a representative of the Los Angeles office, and no longer will the building inspector handle this work.

H. H. Maxon of Ridgeway avenue spent the week-end at San Juan Capistrano.

Eve C. Richardson has become the managing editor of the Eagle Rock Sentinel. Registration of minors from 3 to 18 years of age is taking place at the elementary schools this week, it being required by law that parents and guardians give in the names, ages and other information.

Friends Express Faith in Kleptomaniac Victim

Eagle Rock friends of Mrs. Mabel Runge of Floristan avenue, who is reported to have been arrested in Los Angeles, and held in jail there yesterday on a charge of shoplifting, today express utmost confidence in her integrity, and are unanimous in the belief that she is suffering from sudden nervous condition that made her act in the manner causing her reported arrest. According to reports she was fined $150.

It is stated that Mrs. Runge, who is the wife of F. M. Runge, pleaded guilty to the charge and does not attempt to conceal her identity. She is an active member of the Twentieth Century club and prominent in the Eagle Rock Improvement association. There was no financial reason for her apparent fit of kleptomania, it is said.

Former Residents of Illinois City Picnic

Representatives from eleven Glendale families were present at the annual Bowen, Ill., picnic reunion held all day Sunday at F. P. Newport's Verdugo park, according to J. A. Robinson, who came to Glendale from Bowen four years ago.

The affair was in charge of Ralph Cannon, 326 West Harvard street. A basket dinner was served at noon. Over 100 people were present, including most of the stay-one families in Los Angeles county whose hearthstone was once located in Bowen, from Dr. Downing D. Nice, of Three Rivers, who left 17 years ago, to Dr. D. W. Humphrey, his wife and three daughters, of 816 North Louise street, who arrived in Glendale just two weeks ago.

CONSPIRE AGAINST FARMERS, CLAIM

'Big Business' Accused of Effort to Deflate Values for Personal Gain

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 2.—In an urgent plea for improved marketing conditions for the American farmer, L. W. Ainsworth, secretary of the Des Moines Board of Trade told members of the National Grain Dealers' association, assembled in convention here, that the farmer has been the victim of a gigantic conspiracy since 1920 to deflate farm values for the gain of "big business."

Charles Quinn, secretary-treasurer of the association said that the time had come for "the helpless public to revolt against political and economic experiments."

Assails Radical Leaders

Bitterly assailing radical leaders for class agitation which he said was forcing lawmaking bodies to bow to the will of minorities, Quinn declared the entire nation was feeling the ill effects of such agitation.

"Toppling thrones have let loose a flood of schemes for remaking the world," he said. "And this world of abnormal times, a world that abandons music for jazz, art for cubism and the church for the movie, will try anything."

Agrarian unrest is a part of the general disturbance, he said, adding that congress, which devoted its last two sessions to helping the farmer, is preparing for another flood of "farm aid measures."

Denounces Organizers

Quinn denounced the activities of farm organizers who would apply the rules of co-operative fruit marketing to grain marketing, quoting authorities to show the fallacy of such methods. He asserted that the ill-advised farm leaders sought to destroy the middleman and replace him with "a system far more wasteful."

"After driving farmers into these so-called co-operative companies," he said, "the leaders would bind them for ten years to deliver their products, not to the highest bidder, but to visionaries who know nothing of merchandising grain. To strengthen their position they would impose a fine of $500 on anyone who would dare to tell the farmers that they had made a mistake. The price to be paid producers was of minor importance. It was simply to be the market price 'after all expenses of merchandising' were deducted.

"This is indeed an age of tubulent thinking," he declared, adding that the unsound policies of the farm leaders could but in time bring ruin to agriculture.

HEARING CONTINUES

NORTH ISLAND, SAN DIEGO, Oct. 2.—The naval court of inquiry investigating the Point Loma destroyer disaster swung into its twelfth day this morning with every indication that the sessions will continue for at least another week and possibly into the second month.

'PETTICOAT LANE' IS SNAPPY PLAY

DeMolay's Musical Comedy Goes Over in Brilliant Style Opening Night

By RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff
The members of the cast of "Petticoat Lane," the two-act musical comedy that was presented in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon club by the Order of De Molay last night and that will be repeated tonight, covered themselves with credit, giving a performance that was far and away above the average of amateur shows and that demonstrated that Glendale possesses a wealth of dramatic talent that is capable, when properly trained, of putting on an entertainment that possesses real worth.

The plot of the play was somewhat thin, but it served as something on which to strung the many tuneful song numbers and the specialty dances that made such an appeal to the audience, and the performance was run off like clockwork, with a snap and zest that showed the effects of the long course of rigorous training that the cast has gone through under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Denny, the producers. There were no long delays, the players snapped into their work without permitting the interest to flag for a moment, and no encores were permitted in spite of the often clamorous applause of the spectators.

In Leading Roles
In a company where everyone acquitted himself or herself with credit, it is difficult to praise one above another, but the members who had the heavy work to do and who did it in an admirably efficient fashion were Paul O. Morgan as Jimmy Stewart, Claude Whitfield as Jack Randolph, Marie Hearnshaw as Paty Pepper, Valera Trimmer as Buster Buzz, Catherine Guthrie as Dutch from Holland, Hazel Linkogel as Angelina from Italy, and Howard Elliott as Tony the Wop.

The dancing numbers that were interpolated throughout the play were excellently rendered, notably that of the Turner Sisters in their impersonation of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Valentino in the Tango, and Lois Naudain's specialty toe dance.

It is seldom that a play is so lavishly costumed as is "Petticoat Lane," and the display of fashions shown during the second act, with the newest fall styles loaned for the occasion by Pendroy's Department Store, was something that gladdened the heart of every woman in the house.

Taken from every angle, "Petticoat Lane" is staged with enough pep and zest and real ability to carry it through without a hitch or a moment's delay, the members of the cast are up on their toes every minute to make the play go with a swing, the songs are tuneful and easily whistled, the dances are clever and artistic, and the dresses of the women are beautiful.

Elks Plan Picnic and Anniversary Program

Further plans for the celebration of their eleventh anniversary were made last night at the regular meeting of Glendale Elks in the clubhouse on East Colorado boulevard.

The annual picnic is to take place Sunday, October 14, in the Haddock-Nibley Verdugo park. All attending are to bring basket lunches. Ice cream, music and other features will be furnished free by the lodge.

On Monday night, October 15, the real anniversary celebration will be held at the clubhouse. One of the biggest affairs in the history of the lodge is being anticipated. There will be a special speaker, music by the lodge band in full uniform and other attractive features.

After the meeting last night Will Bode's Elks' jazz orchestra entertained with a group of popular numbers.

Hymen was the God of Marriage, in classical mythology, the original meaning of the word being "bridal song."

Tuesday Club's Year Book Given Members at First Session This Afternoon

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

"I'm but a cog in life's vast wheel,
That daily makes the same old trip;
Yet what a joy it is to feel
That, but for me, the wheel might slip.
'Tis something, after all, to jog
Along, and be a first-class cog."

THIS is the very pertinent poetical quotation heading the list of the 971 active members recorded in the attractive year books for 1923-1924, placed in the hands of Tuesday Afternoon Club members today at the first meeting of the year.

In keeping with the progressive activity of every unit of the club organization, the new year book is of wide interest to all club women of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs, for it is to serve as a souvenir to the district federation convention next April in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

Contains Much Data
Tuesday Afternoon Club women are particularly interested in the new publication, because of the club data recorded in its pages. Harmonizing with the shades of brown, predominating in the exterior and interior finish of the clubhouse, the new year book features a sepiatone of the main entrance of the building, a printed reproduction of one of the pillars flanking the main entrance, and the club's name and year in gold lettering, all of which hints of the wealth contained on the ninety-nine or more pages within.

Six artistic pictures are done in sepiatone and include Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club; the clubhouse, lounge room, palm room, tea room and auditorium.

Give Space to Others
Appearing in the active interest of the Tuesday Afternoon Club in district and state club affairs, the introductory pages of the year book are devoted to the names of the state president and names of officers, departments and chairmen of the 1924 general, state and district conventions.

Then follows a message to the club women from Mrs. Toll, and the data concerning the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

Information given includes: Names, addresses and telephone numbers of officers and directors, club notices, standing committees, 1923-1924 calendar, sections and curators, president's summary of the past year's work, the annual report of the ways and means committee, the treasurer's report, a report on the building fund, presidents of the club from 1904 to 1923, the past presidents' club, the charter members, honorary members, life members, active members, "In Memoriam," club items, articles of incorporation and by-laws and a blank page for notes.

At the club gathering today expressions of favor were heard and compliments showered on Mrs. C. W. Houston, second vice-president and chairman for the year book, and Mrs. Frank C. Ayars, corresponding secretary, who devoted many days to the compilation of what Tuesday Afternoon Club women state is a successful publication.

J. H. Thomas, well-known baritone, who has spent two years studying in Rome, will sing. Mrs. Grace Thomas Bloxham will accompany Mr. Thomas and will also give several readings.

2200 ATTENDING HIGH SCHOOL HERE

Americanization, Household Duties and Lip Reading Included in Courses

By ARTHUR SHERBORNE
Of The Evening News Staff
"Education alone can conduct us to that enjoyment which is at once best in quality and infinite in quantity."

Horace Mann, forerunner of the great educational movement in the United States and founder of the first normal school in this country and one of the first to believe in the importance of co-education, is responsible for this truism.

About 2200 persons in this vicinity at present have confidence in this opinion of Horace to the extent that they are now attending the local institution of secondary education, Glendale Union High school.

"Tis education forms the common mind,
Just as the twig is bent, the tree's inclined."

440 in Night School
Four hundred and forty persons in Glendale, most of them adults, do not believe that education should stop just because they are no longer able to attend day school. This is the present enrollment at the local night school.

Women's desire to attain proficiency in the home-arts is keeping husbands, beaux and sons on the jump. Over eighty women, most of whom are so busy that they just can't do another thing, are enrolled in the four classes in millinery. Only half this number are registered in the two classes in sewing and dressmaking.

Of course, more men are signed up for gymnasium work to the total of forty-five—but then there are two classes, whereas women have only one class. This has an enrollment of thirty, which is not regarded as so woefully bad. Of course, it may get worse.

Six To Be Naturalized
The prospect of becoming full-fledged American citizens is being cherished by six residents who are attending the classes in Americanization and naturalization.

Almost 300 persons are taking commercial subjects. The enrollment in this department is divided as follows: Bookkeeping, 30; penmanship, 30; typewriting, 55; shorthand, 35; mathematics, 32; English and letter writing, 35.

Male subjects have an appeal for 78 persons—of both sexes. Classes are being attended as follows: Mechanical and architectural drawing, 15; machine shop, 8; auto shop, 15; carpentry, 20.

Learn Lip Reading
Spanish, the one foreign language being taught at present in the night school, is being studied by 35 persons. Lip reading, the one subject which is taught in the afternoon, has an enrollment of 15 persons—many of whom are deaf and are being taught to "hear" through their eyes.

"It is not too late for registration at the night school," stated Principal A. L. Ferguson this morning. "Persons wishing to enroll should go directly to the classes."

"Learning by study must be won; 'twas ne'er entailed from son to son."

Totals by Classes
This belief is being shared by the families in this district who are now sending 1750 young people to attend the regular sessions of Glendale Union High school.

Classes are divided as follows: Freshmen, 150; sophomores, 145; juniors, 418; seniors, 234; and post-graduates, 8.

Meanwhile, both the student body and the faculty are looking forward to taking possession of the new high school plant.

Mrs. W. Q. Widdows Returns From Chicago

Mrs. W. Q. Widdows of 1246 Winchester avenue, returned home Sunday morning from Chicago where she attended the Chicago university, taking a special six weeks' course in National Community Service work. On September 15, she visited their former home in Indianapolis, Ind., spending ten days with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Widdows stated she was surprised at the slow business conditions throughout the east and especially in Chicago and Indianapolis. In the main business district of Chicago, many store buildings have been vacated.

She had the opportunity of meeting an official of one of the largest motorcar manufacturing companies and he stated that they sold more cars in southern California than they did in New York City. He also stated that it was their practice to investigate business conditions in all parts of the United States and that through their observation, California was doing twice the business compared to other states.

Emery Urges Association to Aid Plans to Finance Sewer System

Impressing on the members of the Glendale Merchants Association the necessity of prompt and sustained efforts to secure the passage of the bond issue that will be needed to finance the installation of the Glendale sewer system, President Owen C. Emery, at the weekly luncheon of the association in Jensen's Egyptian Village urged that every possible assistance be given the city officials in the plans that are being formulated to insure a favorable decision when the question is submitted to the electors of the city.

The association went on record as endorsing the course taken by the City Council in negotiating with the sewer contractor and pledged the aid of its members to carry the project to a successful conclusion.

L. D. Fish Gets Paving Engineer Job in South

L. D. Fish of 27 West Acacia avenue, former member of the city engineering department, expects to go to San Diego this week to become resident engineer for a patent paving company. He states that this southern metropolis is planning over a million dollars' worth of paving this winter—all of it five inches or more thick. Mrs. Fish probably will remain in Glendale.

in time for the picnic lunch at noon.

URGE WIDENING OF SAN FERNANDO

Councilmen Consider Idea as Good and Await Action by Property Owners

The widening of San Fernando boulevard its entire length through Glendale, instead of only a portion of it, was suggested by Mrs. C. W. Bacon of 900 South Glendale avenue and Mrs. May P. Moberly of 1011 South San Fernando road last night to the City Council.

"I believe that San Fernando road is the street that has to be taken care of next!" exclaimed Councilman W. A. Horn. "I believe that road has to be widened and paved the whole way through."

The City Council took the attitude that it would be more than willing to encourage any desire on the part of property owners to have San Fernando road widened. They issued orders to City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy to delay the proceedings for the widening of San Fernando road between Los Feliz and Los Angeles street until a position can be circulated to widen the whole street.

Roy Johnson of 1133 South San Fernando road inquired if this thoroughfare would be paved before the sewer line was laid. He was informed that, as far as possible, no more streets will be paved until the sewer mains have been installed.

Bank Buys Street Bonds
The Glendale State bank of 109 East Broadway, through its president, A. R. Eastman, last night purchased $10,000 worth of street bonds from the city council. He paid a premium of $40 and, according to the official invitation for bids, "said bonds are a lien upon all taxable property in the city of Glendale." The rate of interest is 6 per cent. These bonds are part of the $35,000 worth authorized by election last year to provide funds for the improvement of streets adjacent to grammar school property.

The improvement of Kenilworth avenue from Vine street to Riverdale drive is desired by S. A. Graham and R. E. Johnston, two of the interested property owners, according to a petition received last night by the City Council. It was referred to the engineering department for checking.

TODAY—Ancient Czech-German Feud; Germans Held Interlopers.

By CARL GRANVILLE.
For International News Service

PRAGUE, Oct. 2.—The animosity between Germans and Czechs in Bohemia—as it was then called—used to be a popular topic in pre-war times. It is only natural that a hatred which dates back many centuries cannot be eliminated by simply creating a democratic form of government.

Before the war the Germans, who had behind them the Austrian governmental authorities and the German reigning house of Hapsburg, were quite powerful in Prague, the capital of Bohemia. Besides the fact that they represented the intellectual middle class and the military, they also cut a figure in university life. They claimed that Prague University was the oldest German university in the world; owing to the fact that the educational standards were maintained at a very high level students from all parts of the German-speaking world flocked to Prague to spend at least one semester at this famous college. Studying at the German section of Prague University was not without danger for the students. The display of brilliant, colorful life of the German students, as has been portrayed so vividly in the play "Alt Heidelberg," was considered a constant provocation by the Czech population of the city, which, after all, were greatly in the majority. The consequences were many cases of friction and at times even street fights.

The Czechs had always considered the Austrians as usurpers of power. Therefore they did not recognize the right of the Hapsburg dynasty to govern them, but only submitted to force. Neither did they agree with the German students in their claim that Prague University was founded as a German school. The language in which lectures were given in those days was Latin, and the fact that Germans used to enroll there did not make it a German institution.

Adventures of Billy Whiskers

By Frances Trego Montgomery

Nannie is still lost. Button and Stubby tried to find her and now we are to hear of Billy's efforts.

After Billy had run up and down the aisles of the building devoted to manufacturers, transportation, varied industries, mines and metallurgy as well as machinery, he was ready to drop with fatigue. He had not stopped to take in the exhibits of these various buildings. All he had done was to look and look for Nannie, calling her name as he ran. He had been chased, clubbed and kicked as he continued his eager search for his wife, but he thought not of cuffs or fatigue. He saw many things he would like to have examined, but he could not pause now. His one thought went for Nannie, and as the hours went by and no trace of her could be found, he became deeply alarmed for fear someone had caught her and taken her off the grounds, and he would not see her again. When this thought came to him, it made him break out in a cold perspiration, and he redoubled his efforts to find her.

He forgot that he was to stay off the zone and search in the large buildings, while Stubby and Button were to do the zone, and he began to rush wildly here and there, wherever he saw an open door or gateway. He soon found himself in the zone before an entranceway marked "New Zealand Village," and in he rushed before the gate keeper could stop him. Once inside he went peeking into all the huts to see if they had Nannie hidden in any of them. All these huts were cone shaped, with thatched straw roofs. Only one of these huts had a window, and that was the one where the men were. In every hie, as Billy called them, were men and women who wore only a short skirt, made of long grass that fell to their knees, with a beaded belt strapped cross-wise over one shoulder. They were splendid physical specimens, but horrid of face. Many of the women had their lips tattooed black, strings of tattooing running down to the end of their chins, which made them look exactly as if black ink was running out of their mouths. Billy was wondering why they made them-look so horrid when a lady asked one of the guides the same question, and he told her it was a mark of royalty and showed they belonged to the family of the chief.

(Billy sees more wonderful sights in the next story.)

Coolidge And Pinchot Clash In Pronouns

President Calvin "We" Coolidge, left, and Governor Gifford "I" Pinchot. They clash in use of personal pronouns.

Politicians, Republican and Democrat alike, are anxiously awaiting the outcome of the President Coolidge-Governor Pinchot letters in which promiscuous use of personal pronouns, relative to the recent settlement of the coal strike, is said to have caused strained relations. Pinchot is said to have stressed the "I" and "Mine," referring to the parley while Coolidge's reply is said to have featured "We" and "Ours." It is believed that the controversy over the credit for settling the strike may be first move in battle for nomination.

HINTS FOR THE MOTORIST

Rattling noises arising from the hood and the chassis springs, having been referred to in recent articles, the following remarks will reveal other points where rattles commonly develop. Sheet metal parts, such as splash guards, the under-protection of the engine, and even the fenders, if they become loose, make annoying noises. They are usually held to their supports by small stove-bolts or machine screws, which often get so rusty that they strip or twist off when tightening is attempted. New bolts and the use of felt or rubber pieces between parts which tend to vibrate together, will generally secure quiet. Brake bands rattle, if their retainers are broken or loose, as also do worn clevis pins or other parts of control linkages having "shake" in them or which hit other parts, when the car jolts. New poke-ends and pins are not very expensive and parts can be wrapped with tape where they interfere. Steering-gear rattle may arise from lost motion at the tie-rod ends, and can be reduced by squeezing the devices closer together, or by replacing the worn parts. Closer adjustment of the drag-link ball ends frequently stops a heavy rattle that is heard on rough roads. If steering spindles have worn loose in rubber bushings, replacement is necessary to restore quiet, but the latter types have adjustable bearings. End play of the steering shaft in the column produces a heavy thumping which can be removed by thrust-bearing adjustment. If the end connections of torque-members or distance-rod wear, they become noisy and may need new parts. The rattling of doors can be suppressed by re-adjusting or replacing their rubber bumpers, and that of windows by attention to their anti-rattling devices. Floor boards that do not "stay put" can be screwed into place and the thump and squeak of a loose body on its frame can be eliminated by tightening its hold-down bolts, making sure that felt pads are used between body

Trouble With Automatic Spark Advance

G. R. C. writes: The automatic spark control device of my car does not always return to the retarded position when the engine is slowed down after running fast. What is the remedy for this?

Answer: Sluggish action of the automatic spark control mechanism is generally caused by lack of lubrication of its moving parts, and we suggest that you apply light oil to these and then pack the housing with vaseline or a very light grease. Possibly the spring which acts against the centrifugal weights has lost its resiliency, in which case a new one should be substituted for it. The spring has to be exactly right for the engine with which it is used or the rate of advance will not be correct. If lubrication does not remove your present difficulty you better take up the matter with a service station of the concern that manufactured the advance device.

End Play of Axle Shafts

G. R. C. writes: There is considerable side play in the rear wheels of my car. What can be done to eliminate it? Can it be done to run or "dance" from one side of the road to the other. Can this be caused by the above-mentioned condition?

Answer: The bearings in this case

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BIG WIND

The Woosie Wolf sat on his hind legs in the den of the Fuzzy Fox and blinked his eyes.

"I'm hungry!" snarled the Woosie Wolf.

"So am I," growled the Fuzzy Fox. "It may seem impolite of me not to ask you to stay to lunch," he went on, "but the truth of the matter is that my cupboard is bare—like Mother Hubbard's."

"So is mine—not a thing to eat in the house!" snarled the Wolf. "We simply must get something. I know what I'm going to do!"

"What?" asked the Fox, eagerly.

"I'm going to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears," said the Wolf.

"Ha! Ha! Ha! Oh, that is funny!" laughed the Fox. "We have tried, forty-seven times, to get that rabbit's ears, and never once have we done it."

"I shall get them this time!" snapped the Wolf. "Just you wait and I'll show you."

Out of the den of the Fox slipped the Woosie Wolf. He seemed so much in earnest that the Fox trotted after him.

"I say, old dear," whispered the Fox, "if there's really anything in this, you know, you ought to let me share. We're partners and buddies, you remember."

"Come along if you like," invited the Wolf, indifferent like.

So the Fox and the Wolf tramped through the woods together, getting more and more hungry all the while. Soon they were near the hollow stump bungalow of the rabbit gentleman.

"What new plan are you going to try to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears?" asked the Fox. "We have tried so many, only to see them all fail, that I haven't much hope."

"We'll get him this time," snarled the Wolf. "When you see a bush with big, sticky, prickly thorns on let me know."

"Good gracious!" barked the Fox. "You can't pin Uncle Wiggily fast with a sharp thorn. He'll jump over your head."

"Never mind about that!" went on the Wolf. "Just tell me when you see a thorn bush."

"Pretty soon they slunk past a thorn bush and the Fox said:

"There it is!"

"Good!" snapped the Wolf. "Now pick the longest thorn you can find and I'll do the same."

So the Wolf had a thorn and the Fox had a thorn—long, sharp, sticky prickly thorns from the thorn bush.

Pretty soon the Fox looked down the hill and he saw Uncle Wiggily riding along in his automobile with big bologna sausage tires on the wheels filled with lots of air.

"There goes our rabbit now," said the Fox. "He's riding away from us. How are we going to get his ears?"

"Come along!" howled the Wolf. "He won't ride forever. He has to stop some time. Come on!"

So the Fox and the Wolf, with their long, sharp, sticky, prickly thorns, raced on after the bunny gentleman in his automobile.

In a little while Uncle Wiggily stopped at the home of Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig. He was going to give her a piece of coffee pie. Nurse Jane had sent over the pie, and he was going to give the Wolf to the Fox. "He is stopping! Now we can play the rear axle are of the tapered roller type and the readjustment of the outboard ones should eliminate end play at the bushes. Remove the rear wheels by means of a wheel puller, loosen the clamp which prevents the bearing mounting from turning and screw the latter into the end of the axle tube until the tapered end of the axle shaft, when pushed and pulled by the hand shows only barely appreciable end play, then tighten the clamp and replace the wheel. Adjust each of the two bearings about equally. This end play cannot cause your car to wander from one side of the road to the other. Lost motion in your steering device is a more probable cause.

Diet and Health

THE THYROID GLAND

Yesterday I told you about the thyroid gland, that gland in the chest during babyhood and childhood which should atrophy (shriveled up) by the time puberty is reached. If it continues to persist, or if it becomes enlarged, it may cause severe disturbances to the breathing. X-ray treatments are given when this happens. They will cause the gland to atrophy as it should have done normally.

Today I am going to review a little about the thyroid gland for you, as I told you yesterday, quite a number of you are confusing the thyroid and the thymus glands, apparently on account of the similarity of the names.

The thyroid gland is a gland which persists throughout life. It is located in the front of the neck—not in the chest, as is the thymus gland. The thyroid gland has two masses connected by a narrow bridge and is situated astride the windpipe. Unless the thyroid is enlarged it is not noticeable. When it is enlarged we call it a goiter—from the word gutter, meaning throat.

The internal secretion which is given off from the thyroid gland, taken up by its numerous blood vessels and distributed to the body, has a great deal to do with the body's functioning. The active principle in this internal secretion of the thyroid gland is an iodine compound.

It has been discovered that simple goiters—enlargements of the thyroid gland with no other symptoms—are due to a deficiency of iodine in the thyroid gland. Adolescent girls are particularly prone to simple goiter, especially if they live in the so-called goiter belts. (Boys suffer from goiter much less often than girls; one to six is the proportion.)

In North America the goiter belt comprises the entire basin of the Great Lakes, the basin of the St. Lawrence river, and that portion of the United States and Canada known as the Pacific Northwest. Whether the goiters in these regions are due to a deficiency of iodine in the soil and, therefore, in the vegetables grown in that soil; or whether the water is deficient in iodine in those sections, is not fully known. When there is no iodine deficiency in the soil or water, there may be a disturbance of the iodine absorption by the body, due to some abnormal digestive condition.

We do know this much, however, that in simple goiter there is an iodine deficiency finally, no matter what the initial cause of it may have been; and the thyroid gland apparently enlarges in an endeavor to overcome this deficiency of iodine in the system. This has been demonstrated by animal experimentation, for animals—especially fish, sheep and

PICTORIAL REVIEW

FOR THE STYLISH YOUNG

Wraps of an enveloping character are still among Fashion's favorites, and they give a charming finishing touch to the toilette of the stylish young. First, is pictured a cape in navy blue rep with a collar that may be closed to the neck or rolled low. The fronts of the cape are slashed to slip the arms through. The gray chevrons, checked tweeds, and twillcoats are also appropriate for this natty little garment. Eight-year size requires 1 1/2 yard 54-inch material, with 2 3/4 yards 36-inch lining.

The slip-on dress to the right may be worn under the cape, or with a coat. It closes at the center-back, the front and back being joined to a yoke of lace which is cut in one with the sleeves. The dress is also slashed in from the under-arm seams and the lower slashed edges gathered. If preferred, the sleeves may be lengthened with deep sections of self-material. Medium size requires 2 3/4 yards 36-inch material, with 3/4 yard all-over lace.

First Model—Pictorial Review Cape, No. 1705. Sizes, 6 to 17 years. Price, 30 cents.

Second Model—Dress No. 1710. Sizes, 6 to 17 years. Price, 35 cents.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a middle aged woman and married. I have been married almost four years and have one little boy past two years whom I love dearly. He is a bright little fellow. Before we were born my husband seemed to want to go places and spend his money on shows and worldly things when we needed it at home. He never seems to think about my welfare or the lonely hours that I have to spend all alone.

Before we were married he told me he didn't care about worldly things such as shows and good times and that he was a Christian man and would insure me a good Christian home. I always believed strictly in doing and being a good Christian. He doesn't seem to realize that he ought to save his money. He spends foolishly.

Now I would like your advice. I wish to do right. I know I do not deserve the cruel, unhappy discomfort I get. My life is no pleasure to me. If later on I can do something for myself and babies I surely would be pleased.

I always try to treat my husband right in every respect whether he does me or not, thinking he will reform his ways and be kinder and more thoughtful of me.

BLUE FRIEND.
You and your husband simply do not seem to be compatible. His love for you made him feel ready to give up amusements before marriage, but afterward when he became used to having you with him every day, he turned back to the pleasures which doubtless interested him before he knew you. I do not believe that either the husband or the wife should dominate where there is lack of compatibility. It is neither fair for your husband to spend his time away from you amusing himself, nor for you to try to make him give up all the things which give him so much pleasure. My advice is to try to share more with him.

Perhaps if you look back over your married life you will realize that after your baby came you became less of a companion to your

Miss H. D. E. Worried, P. F. P.:—A hot oil massage the night before the usual shampoo will help the dandruff, and a daily vigorous massage of the scalp, which increases the circulation, will do much toward improving its whole general condition. A good hair tonic included with the massage several times each week will hasten the recovery. Hair falls out because it is dead, so there should be no apprehension over the loss of these hairs; and this will stop when the scalp is healthy when new hair will replace the old hair.

Brown Eyes, Brownie E. K., Anxious, Miss M. B., Miss Catherine:—To gain in weight drink plenty of milk; use as much butter as possible, or take olive oil three times a day. If you dislike the taste of the oil, take it with an equal amount of grape juice. After the weather is cooler, take cod liver oil in place of olive oil. A simple lunch before retiring will also help. The object is to take as much nourishing food as you can assimilate but never to a point of overtaxing the digestion.

Katherine:—The only trouble that would ensue from using peroxide too frequently on your arms, would be that of drying out the natural secretions; but you will realize that yourself as your skin would become sensitive.

Katydid:—Cleansing creams are what they imply, and are made from mineral oil which is only intended to soften the soil in the pores.

Mary Ann:—A girl of 14 1/2 years who is five feet, three inches in height, is normal weight from 100 to 110 pounds. X. Y. Z.:—Use hot wet cloths on the parts covered with blackheads until you feel that the pores have been opened, after which massage cleansing cream into the skin to soften the soil in the pores. Remove this either by scrubbing with hot water and a fine soap, or by using the powder that comes for this purpose, and close the pores at the end of the cleansing process by rubbing a small piece of ice over the skin, or by dashing very cold water over it.

Blue Eyes:—I do not think that you would be pleased with bobbed hair, when it has turned almost white, even though you are young enough to wear this style. If you care to use a tonic, I will be glad to mail you the formula for one that will help this condition you mention so your hair will stop falling out and come in again in a healthy condition.

M. J. P.:—Build up the tissues of the hands by massaging them with a nourishing oil, but if your system is run down your hands will show this; under such circumstances the hands will fill out as you build up all over.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

M. BAKHMETEFF SEES U. S., RUSSIAN AND ENGLAND KEEPING FUTURE

The prediction of Boris A. Bakhmeteff, former Russian ambassador to the United States, at the closing session of his round table at the Institute of Politics, that Russia, the British commonwealth and the United States would become "a belt of well-meaning democracies encircling the world" and the most potent factor working for international peace attracted great attention among members of the institute. It was regarded in some quarters as one of the outstanding constructive features of the whole institute, which ended recently after a month's session, and much interest was expressed in the details of the statement that accompanied it.

These details Mr. Bakhmeteff explained. They correspond in substance to his interpretation of Russian foreign policy at the recent weeks, and deal with the relations of a recovered democratic Russia toward the outstanding problems of world stabilization, he believes is to be expected from the future foreign policy of the coming Russian commonwealth.

"The international position of Russia, particularly in her relations toward the United States and the great powers of western Europe," said M. Bakhmeteff, "depends primarily on her internal developments. The trend of events inside of Russia is bringing her into prominence after a temporary eclipse. Instead of a subject of treatment by other nations, she has become a factor in the world's affairs."

husband because you were so busy and absorbed in the child. Try not to put aside your husband because of the children. He will love them of course, but he will love you more, and he will want your companionship too.

It is an excellent thing to make every effort to do right, but perhaps your ideas of right and wrong are more strict than your husband's. He may feel that you are not quite human in your well-regulated life. A little amusement does not hurt any one, and therefore my advice is to try to bring about a better understanding with your husband. Love him more and be tolerant of his desires. I think you will find that when he sees you are interested in him, he will be responsive and will give you more money than you have been getting from him recently.

Tia Juana Liquor Not
Genuine Says Agent

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 2.—Little if any legitimate liquor is being sold over the bars at Tia Juana, Mex., across the line from this city, according to word brought here by H. H. Dole, chief prohibition agent in California, after a tour along the Mexican border.

The tourist, he said, is served with cheap moonshine liquor. On the contrary, he asserted, friends of the saloon keeper or bartender could get the "real stuff."

EYE SPECIALISTS TO OPEN OFFICES

Noted Optometrists Secure
Location for Practice of Profession

Two of the most prominent optometrists in Southern California, who for the last five years have been identified with the faculty of the Los Angeles College of Optometry, have decided to locate in Glendale, and Monday morning opened offices here. These two men are Prof. Edwin H. Armstrong and Prof. Arthur E. Hoare, both of whom are not only well known in the educational field but also for their lectures on optometric subjects.

"Our firm, to be known as Armstrong & Hoare, has taken a long-term lease on the west half of the building occupied by the Ray L. Cole jewelry firm, on Broadway at Brand, and will open complete, modern and well-equipped optometric offices, which will put Glendale on a par with any city in the Southland from the standpoint of optometric service," said Dr. Armstrong today.

Resigns College Post

Dr. Armstrong has resigned the chair of practical and technical optics and instructor in modern professional procedure at the Los Angeles college to engage in partnership with Dr. Hoare. For the last fifteen years he has been engaged in optometry and the optical business, covering all branches. During the war he served as a captain in the Canadian infantry, having seen two years' service in France. At present he is managing editor of the California Optometrist, the official publication of the state association, and is vice-president in charge of public information. He is likewise a lecturer for the educational course given each year for optometrists under the auspices of the state association.

Dr. Hoare, who has had nine years' professional experience, has just resigned from the college faculty with Dr. Armstrong, having been clinical instructor and professor of psychology and practical optometry. Dr. Hoare during the World War saw four years' service with the Australian forces of the British army in Egypt and France. At present he is secretary of the State Association of Optometrists and also of the State League for the Conservation of Vision. He also is a lecturer for the educational course of the state association, and has just returned from an extended tour of the Northern California cities.

Bright Future Here

"Our decision to enter business in Glendale was reached only after we had made a complete survey of over a dozen towns in Southern California," stated Dr. Armstrong today, "and we were convinced that no other town has such a promising future."

"Our new firm has fitted up offices comparing favorably with any in the Southland, having installed all of the latest instruments for the correction of defective vision."

Will Continue Work on Truckee Highway

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 2.—Despite the recent decision of the supreme court denying the State Highway Commission the right to rescind contracts entered into by the preceding board, no delay will attend the construction of the Truckee River highway to the Nevada state line, according to an announcement by W. F. Mixon, secretary of the board.

It was feared that the decision requiring the commission to complete road contracts entered into by the Stephens board would cause a shortage of funds for the Truckee River route.

Surveyors are at work on the Truckee road and work will be completed in time for the season of 1924.
